

Beauty is not in the face; beauty is an inner glow that comes from a clear conscience, a kind of inner radiance that is invisible to the eye.